

I HAVE...WHO HAS?

POSITIVE & NEGATIVE CONSEQUENCES

I have: That person feels good about themselves.

Who has: You refuse to wear a jacket on the walk to school.

I have: Your friend won't let you borrow her things anymore.

Who has: You finish all your chores on time without being asked.

I have: You will be cold.

Who has: You spend 15 minutes a day working on your project.

I have: Your parents decide you are responsible enough to take care of a pet.

Who has: You blurt out answers in class.

I have: You are ready to turn your project in on time.

Who has: You decide to play with your friends instead of studying.

I have: You lose your classroom job.

Who has: You eat two helpings of dessert.

I have: You get a bad grade on your test.

Who has: You sleep in late and don't have time for breakfast.

I have: You have a stomach ache.

Who has: You invite a new student to sit with you at lunch.

I have: You are hungry and cranky at school.

Who has: You borrow a friend's game and break it.

I have: The new student invites you to his birthday party.

Who has: You give someone a compliment.

I HAVE...WHO HAS?

POSITIVE & NEGATIVE CONSEQUENCES

I have: Your sister may do a chore for you another time.

Who has: You clean out your closet and donate things you don't need.

I have: You have more room in your closet to keep things organized.

Who has: After losing the game, you accuse your friend of cheating.

I have: Your friend doesn't want to play with you anymore.

Who has: You have to wake up early tomorrow, so you go to be early.

I have: You get a good night sleep and are on time for the event.

Who has: You have basketball tryouts in two weeks, but you put off practicing.

I have: You don't make the team.

Who has: You cut the line in the cafeteria.

I have: The teacher catches you and you have to go to the end of the line.

Who has: You invite your whole class to your birthday party.

I have: No one feels left out.

Who has: You didn't clean your room like your mom told you to.

I have: You don't get to watch TV after dinner tonight.

Who has: You lie to your parents.

I have: It will be hard for your parents to trust you next time.

Who has: You rush through your work.

I have: You may make silly mistakes that you would have noticed when taking your time.

Who has: You do the dishes for your sister because she is tired.